

Recognizing
PHILOMENA SBARAGLIA
ON HER 100th BIRTHDAY

WHEREAS Philomena Sbaraglia was born in Philadelphia on July 24, 1915; and

WHEREAS Philomena is known as a friendly, hardworking and family-oriented person. She has spent many years in her native Philadelphia working in a men's suit factory to support her family; and

WHEREAS Philomena is a well-loved and respected resident of the Kennedy Health Care Center, a long-term care facility in Washington Township, for the past seven years; and

WHEREAS Philomena has said the secret to her longevity is having many family members and friends who love her. It is both proper and fitting to pay tribute to Philomena on the occasion of her centennial birthday.

NOW, THEREFORE, it is proclaimed that I, Barbara A. Wallace, Mayor of Washington Township, and representing all of its people, recognize with pride the auspicious occasion of Philomena Sbaraglia's 100th Birthday! You are an asset to your family, friends and the community.
